During Lent, Cultivate Your Gratefulness

Happy Birthday! It may or may not be your birthday now, but I know it will be coming up at some point. I hope you receive many cool presents and get to spend quality time with friends and family. On special days like birthdays, Christmas, and anniversaries, it is good to celebrate. After all, we need some fun and celebration in our lives.

But what about the day after? Presents remain, but the presence of others may be over, and it is back to the daily grind. Yesterday, you were filled with gratitude. You hold the memory of yesterday still close so that fuels you for the day. However, how about 2, 3, or 4 days from then? The truth is that many joys in this life cannot stay with us forever. They belong to a certain place in time. We will have our memories, yet those thoughts will never be a suitable substitute for the real thing.

There is one joy that remains throughout all our days: the joy we find in Jesus. What he gives us does not fade. The amazing thing about what he offers us is that it also provides a lens through which we see all things. Now we can see the smallest reasons to be grateful. We no longer have a life where we go from one celebration to another with the ordinary in between. All life and time are extraordinary! All gifts, great and small, are precious. This offering seems too good to be true, so what's the catch? Like all gifts given to us, for the gift to have meaning, we must be willing to receive it. The choice is yours. You can live in the ordinary, or you can revel in the extraordinary, now and forever.

2020 Annual Appeal Update

Thank you to everyone who has pledged to the Annual Catholic Appeal so far. All payments above our goal of $20,000 come back to St. Didacus Parish. If you have not done so, please prayerfully consider pledging.

Parish Goal:	$20,000
Payments to date:	$ 8,588
No. of Contributors:	37
% of Parishioners Contributing:	5%

We are almost half way there! We need everyone to do their part. Your donation helps our community. Just drop your envelope in the collection or at the Parish Office. Thank you!

The story of the encounter between Jesus and the Samaritan woman tells us several things about God and his desire for his hungry and thirsty people. Once again through this encounter, Jesus shows us that he is not bound by the prevailing mentality of his people and his time. Generally the Jews hated the Samaritans and considered them outcasts. Jesus went above and beyond and started a friendly conversation with a Samaritan woman. Jesus shows us that he came to offer grace and salvation to all. The story also tells us that God meets us where we are. Jesus journeyed far in order to search for the lost sheep of Israel. Jesus took the first steps for the woman to get into the dialogue. As the conversations went on the woman gradually recognized the one who could satisfy her thirst for true happiness in life. In the end she became an instrument for her own people to know who Jesus was. She allowed Jesus to come into her life, now she would walk and live her life no longer for herself but for others.

Conversion comes as a surprise for some of us. It can come at the most unexpected moments of our lives. We only have to keep the door open like the Samaritan Woman who allowed Jesus to come into her life. Her encounter with Jesus satisfied her thirst more than all the jars of water she had ever fetched from the well. During this time of Lent, let us continue to pray that our encounter with Jesus in the Eucharist and in our daily prayer and in our daily activities will lead us to deeper satisfaction of his love and mercy.

Fr. Rick

The Joy of Giving

Jesus reminds us that material things, even something as basic as water, can never satisfy us for long. When we build our lives around material possessions, we always want more. True joy and peace only comes when we follow Jesus; when we become more “God-centered” and less “self-centered.”

The Gospel Reading tells the story of a woman who is worthless by the standards of Jewish society at that time.

Jesus has sent his disciples off for food, and he is sitting at a well when she comes to draw water. There is every reason why he shouldn't talk to her at all. First, she is a woman. It is only the disciples' awe of Jesus that keeps them from asking him what he thought he was doing when they return and find him talking to her without even a chaperone by her.

Secondly, she is a Samaritan. As she herself points out to him, Jews don't talk to Samaritans. Samaritans are self-made outcasts from the Jewish point of view, and self-respecting Jews stay away from them.

And, thirdly, this Samaritan has the sort of history that makes women pariahs even in their home communities. Jesus knows her status, and he lets her know he does. She has had five husbands—five husbands!—and she is currently living with a man to whom she is not married. Even by the lax standards of our own day, this sort of history would make people look askance at her. In her village she is undoubtedly a shamed person.

So, take it all and all, she's a worthless person, isn't she? What Jew or Samaritan would want to invite her to lunch? But, you might be thinking, the savior of the world could certainly spare a crumb even for a shamed Samaritan woman. He could preach to her that her sins are forgiven, you might be supposing, or he could offer her some other kind of pastoral help. But he doesn't, does he? No, he asks her to help him. He opens the conversation with her by asking her to give him a drink.

And then look at how this story ends: she brings belief in Jesus to her village, and the villagers come to Jesus because of her. She isn't worthless then, is she? No, then she takes her rightful place among the apostles. The evangelization of her village is her accomplishment. And so when Jesus asks her to care for him, he starts a process that brings her from being worthless to being the apostle to her village.

The remedy of love for human worthlessness is modeled for us here, isn't it?

—Eleonore Stump Professor of Philosophy, Saint Louis University

Lord God, despite the grumbling of your people in the desert, you never abandon us nor delay in bestowing your grace. Let us come into your presence this day with great thanksgiving and bow down before you in love. As you provide streams of living water, grant our prayers. Through Christ our Lord. Amen.

On the Cover: Jesus and the Woman at the Well by Angelica Kauffman (1741–1807). She was a founding member of the Royal Academy of Arts and one of London's most sought-after portraitists. She was a Swiss Neoclassical painter who had a successful career in London and Rome. Remembered primarily as a history painter, Kauffmann was a skilled portraitist, landscape and decorative painter.

La historia del encuentro entre Jesús y la mujer samaritana nos cuenta varias cosas sobre Dios y su deseo por su pueblo hambriento y sediento. Una vez más a través de este encuentro, Jesús nos muestra que no está obligado por la mentalidad prevaleciente de su pueblo y su tiempo. En general, los judíos odiaban a los samaritanos y los consideraban marginados. Jesús fue más allá y comenzó una conversación amistosa con una mujer samaritana. Jesús nos muestra que vino a ofrecer gracia y salvación a todos. La historia también nos dice que Dios nos encuentra donde estamos. Jesús viajó lejos para buscar las ovejas perdidas de Israel. Jesús dio los primeros pasos para que la mujer entrara en el diálogo. A medida que avanzaban las conversaciones, la mujer gradualmente reconoció a quien podía satisfacer su sed de verdadera felicidad en la vida. Al final se convirtió en un instrumento para que su propia gente supiera quién era Jesús. Ella permitió que Jesús entrara en su vida, ahora caminaría y viviría su vida no más para ella sino para los demás.

La conversión es una sorpresa para algunos de nosotros. Viene en los momentos más inesperados de nuestra vida. Solo tenemos que mantener la puerta abierta como la mujer samaritana que permitió que Jesús entrara en su vida. Su encuentro con Jesús satisfizo su sed más que todas las jarras de agua que había sacado del pozo. Durante este tiempo de Cuaresma, sigamos orando para que nuestro encuentro con Jesús en la Eucaristía, en nuestra oración diaria y en nuestras actividades diarias nos lleven a una satisfacción más profunda de su Amor y Misericordia.

P. Rick
