God's Unending Mercy and Love

God's mercy is plentiful, especially to those in greatest need.

As we know, Jesus uses parables to teach his disciples or the crowds a lesson. Sometimes they sound a bit vague or the meaning isn't obvious to our modern ears. Not so today.

Even at the start, Luke says this parable was aimed at those convinced of their own righteousness. Jesus is about to tell them a story that would knock them down a few pegs to live a more authentic spiritual life. The figure of the Pharisee is almost akin to a caricature – he is praying in an extremely haughty way that might make all of us uneasy. Indeed, his prayer is not even to God: he spoke this prayer to himself. Meanwhile, the tax collector is almost nervous about his prayer to God. He does not lift his eyes to heaven when he prays; he asks for God's mercy because he is a sinner. Jesus concludes the story with his primary point. Those who sit on high will be humbled, and those who are humble will be lifted up before God.

In the first reading from Sirach, God's concern for the humble is also emphasized. The prayer of those who are most vulnerable – the lowly – is described as being prioritized. It does not stop until it reaches the Most High. They might be overlooked and downtrodden now, but God is listening to them. In the same way, the tax collector might have been overlooked by the world and afraid to even ask God for mercy, but God was waiting for him.

As we reflect on these readings, we might wonder who we are more like, the Pharisee or the tax collector. A Pharisee of today might be someone who has become rigid in their faith to the point where they have lost the meaning of it. They might be going through the motions, presuming there is nothing left to uncover or change in their heart. The tax collector of today might be someone who feels abandoned or unworthy to petition God. It might be someone who presumes they have already been judged and there is no room for mercy. Perhaps sometimes we feel more like one than the other. Jesus wants us to know that he is listening and has a deep concern for us.

As we continue our prayer, let us root ourselves in the Eucharist. This sacrament is a perfect model for us of self-emptying love and humility. Let us keep striving and working to follow this model, confident in God's unending mercy and love.

—Faith Catholic

WORLD MISSION MONTH

Mission Does Not End with October

As we conclude World Mission Month, we remember that the Church's missionary work is ongoing. Our baptismal call to share the Gospel continues beyond this season, inviting us to remain engaged—through prayer, storytelling, and generous action. The first World Mission Sunday was celebrated nearly a century ago in 1926. The need today remains urgent: missionaries still serve in remote villages, conflict zones, refugee camps, and urban slums. They bring more than aid—they bring Jesus Christ. As St. Paul VI reminded us 50 years ago in his historic exhortation Evangelii Nuntiandi: "The Church exists in order to evangelize" (14). We are grateful for your support this October—and we invite you to continue the journey. Subscribe to Mission Magazine, join us in praying the World Mission Rosary year-round, and stay connected to the Pope's missions through www.pontificalmissions.org. Hope does not disappoint—and the world still needs hope.

FIRST FRIDAY ADORATION

Good Afternoon Saint Didacus Families,

I want to extend my heartfelt gratitude to our entire community for making our "Fall into Broadway" Fall Festival such a wonderful success! It was truly joyful to see our students having so much fun and so many alumni returning to celebrate with us.

This event is a true team effort! From donations, game booths and prize booth to tacos, açai, snacks, ice cream and coffee sales, every contribution made a difference. Thank you to our PTG for planning and to all our volunteers for setup, cleanup, and the countless details in between. Our teachers brought the magic of Broadway to life through their class performances, and our Choir, Cheer Team and local Clan Rince Irish Dancers all added an extra sparkle to the day.

Thanks to your collective effort and generosity, we raised $16,500!

It's such an honor to be part of this community,
Mrs. Kim James

La Misericordia y el Amor Infinitos de Dios

La misericordia de Dios es abundante, especialmente para los más necesitados.

Como sabemos, Jesús usa las parábolas para enseñar a sus discípulos y a la multitud.

A veces suenan un poco vagas, o su significado no es evidente para nuestros oídos modernos. Hoy en día no es así.

Incluso al principio, Lucas dice que esta parábola estaba dirigida a quienes estaban convencidos de su propia justicia. Jesús está a punto de contarles una historia que los haría bajar los humos para vivir una vida espiritual más auténtica. La figura del fariseo es casi una caricatura: ora con una altivez que podría incomodarnos a todos. De hecho, su oración ni siquiera es a Dios: la dirige a sí mismo. Mientras tanto, el publicano está casi nervioso por su oración a Dios. No alza la vista al cielo cuando ora; pide la misericordia de Dios porque es pecador. Jesús concluye la historia con su mensaje principal. Los que se sientan en lo alto serán humillados, y los humildes serán ensalzados ante Dios.

En la primera lectura del Eclesiástico, también se enfatiza la preocupación de Dios por los humildes. La oración de los más vulnerables, los humildes, se describe como prioritaria. No se detiene hasta llegar a Dios. Puede que ahora sean ignorados y oprimidos, pero Dios los escucha. De la misma manera, el publicano pudo haber sido ignorado por el mundo y temeroso incluso de pedirle misericordia a Dios, pero Dios lo esperaba.

Al reflexionar sobre estas lecturas, podríamos preguntarnos a quién nos parecemos más: al fariseo o al publicano. Un fariseo de hoy podría ser alguien que se ha vuelto rígido en su fe hasta el punto de haber perdido el sentido de esta. Quizás esté actuando mecánicamente, dando por sentado que no hay nada más que descubrir o cambiar en su corazón. El publicano de hoy podría ser alguien que se siente abandonado o indigno de pedirle a Dios. Podría ser alguien que presume que ya ha sido juzgado y que no hay lugar para la misericordia. Quizás a veces nos sintamos más como uno que como el otro. Jesús quiere que sepamos que nos escucha y que se preocupa profundamente por nosotros.

Al continuar nuestra oración, arraiguémonos en la Eucaristía. Este sacramento es un modelo perfecto de amor abnegado y de humildad. Sigamos esforzándonos y trabajando por seguir este modelo, confiados en la misericordia y el amor infinitos de Dios. —Fe Católica

MES MUNDIAL de la MISSION

La misión no termina en octubre. Al concluir el Mes Mundial de las Misiones, recordamos que la labor misionera de la Iglesia continúa. Nuestro llamamiento bautismal a compartir el Evangelio sigue más allá de esta temporada, invitándonos a mantenernos comprometidos—mediante la oración, el relato de historias y la acción generosa. El primer Domingo Mundial de las Misiones se celebró hace casi un siglo, en 1926. La necesidad hoy sigue siendo urgente: los misioneros aún sirven en aldeas remotas, zonas de conflicto, campos de refugiados y barrios urbanos marginados. Ellos traen más que ayuda—traen a Jesucristo. Como nos recordó San Pablo VI hace 50 años en su histórica exhortación Evangelii Nuntiandi: "La Iglesia existe para evangelizar" (14). Estamos agradecidos por su apoyo este octubre—y lo invitamos a continuar el camino. Suscríbase a la Revista Misión, únase a nosotros en la oración del Rosario Misionero durante todo el año, y manténgase conectado con las misiones del Papa a través de www.pontificalmissions.org. La esperanza no decepciona—y el mundo todavía necesita esperanza.

Job change?

Whether retiring or changing jobs, you'll want to know your retirement account options.

There are four potential options for your 401(k) when leaving an employer:

- Leave it in your former employer's 401(k) plan, if allowed by the plan.
- Move it to your new employer's 401(k) plan, if you've changed employers and your new employer plan allows for it.
- Roll the account over to an individual retirement account (IRA).
- Cash it out, which is subject to potential tax consequences.

We can talk through your financial goals and find the option that works best for you.
